DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1 to ³~~4~~ and 13 to 19, drawn to an apparatus for speech recognition in a mobile telecommunications system, comprising an RF module, a speech recognition and character conversion unit, a display, and a controller for providing overall control of a voice recognition mode for the mobile phone and transmitting a speech recognition request to the base station, classified in class 704, subclass 270.1.
- II. Claims 7 to 9, drawn to a method for speech recognition, comprising the steps of determining whether predetermined key data has been received from a keypad of the mobile phone upon receipt of a paging message, transmitting a reverse connect order upon receipt of the predetermined key data, converting a received speech message to character data, and displaying the character data, classified in class 370, subclass 278.
- III. Claims 10 and 11, drawn to an apparatus for speech recognition, comprising a radio modem, a speech recognition and character conversion unit for converting voice data to character data, and a controller for allocating radio resources and transmitting converted character data in the form of a short message, classified in class 455, subclass 466.

- IV. Claim 12, drawn to a method for speech recognition, comprising transmitting a paging message, transmitting a speech recognition and character display information message initiating the paging message, converting a voice signal to character data, and transmitting the converted character data in the form of a short message, classified in class 455, subclass 426.1.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as in a common channel signaling system transmitting a reverse connect order. See MPEP § 806.05(d).
3. Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention III has separate utility such as in mobile telephone system providing a short messaging service. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

4. Inventions III and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention IV has separate utility such as in a paging system transmitting short messages. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

5. Inventions IV and I are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I has separate utility such as in a voice recognition apparatus for a mobile telecommunication system, wherein a controller provides overall control and transmits a speech recognition notification request message to a base station. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

8. Claims 4 to 6 link inventions I to IV. The restriction requirement among the linked inventions is subject to the nonallowance of the linking claims, claims 4 to 6. Thus, claims 4 to 6 will be examined in addition to any one elected invention. Inventions I to IV will be rejoined only if the linking claims are found to be allowable.

9. Upon the allowance of linking claims, the restriction requirement as to the linked inventions shall be withdrawn and any claims depending from or otherwise including all the limitations of the allowable linking claims will be entitled to examination in the instant application. Applicant is advised that if any such claims depending from or including all the limitations of the allowable linking claims are presented in a continuation or divisional application, the claims of the continuation or divisional application may be subject to provisional statutory and/or nonstatutory double patenting rejections over the claims of the instant application. If a restriction requirement is withdrawn, the provisions of 35 U.S.C. 121 are no longer applicable. In re Ziegler, 44 F.2d 1211, 1215, 170 USPQ 129, 131-32 (CCPA 1971). See also MPEP § 804.01.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement is traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
